

The Online CELTA

- Are you a working professional who cannot take four weeks off work to follow a face-to-face CELTA course?
- Can you take at least two weeks off to do your CELTA teaching practice?
- Are you comfortable working with online resources?
- Do you learn better when studying at your own pace?

If you answered yes to all or most of the questions above, then the online CELTA course may be the best choice for you.

The CELTA Online is flexible and accessible: you can access the online materials at any time, giving you the flexibility to plan your CELTA work around your other professional and personal commitments.

Characteristics of the online CELTA course

The Cambridge CELTA Course Online is a blended learning course, combining online self-study with hands-on teaching practice. As with the face-to-face course, the Cambridge CELTA Course Online has two components:

- Input, which is delivered online with tutor support and
- Teaching Practice, for which you need to travel to CELT Athens.

Online!

- The course portal is opened by Cambridge on the official day on which the course starts
- You will be sent full details on where and how to log into the website once you have been offered a place and been registered with Cambridge ESOL.
- During the online component of the course you will be assigned an online course tutor who will facilitate your group work and provide feedback on assignments and progress. You will also work collaboratively in the forum(s) and in the 'live room' to complete tasks with tutor support, evaluation, and comment.
- The online component of the course is not just studying resources: Our online platform will provide you with a flexible and engaging learning experience. Online tasks are practical and interactive.
- You will cover the same topics as those following the face-to-face course.
- Other than the online tasks, you will also complete and submit four assessed written assignments.

Teaching Practice: two weeks in Athens

*You will have to be at CELT Athens on a daily basis during this 2-week period

- The Cambridge CELTA Course Online uses exactly the same model of face-to-face supervised lesson planning, teaching practice, evaluation and feedback.
- Each trainee completes six hours' assessed teaching practice. This involves teaching on eight occasions and observing the teaching of other trainees in the teaching practice group. You teach learners at a minimum of two different levels, one of which will be lower than intermediate and the other intermediate level or higher.
- As well as gaining hands-on experience teaching real learners, you will observe experienced teachers teaching classes of adult learners and watch peers teach their classes and participate in giving feedback.

Benefits – the Online CELTA...

- provides you with a CELTA Certificate which is the same as for the face-to-face course (the certificate does not in any way indicate that it was obtained online)
- covers the same content and knowledge as a contact/ face-to-face course
- is well supported by CELT Athens tutors during the online component as well as during the two weeks in Athens
- is assessed by a Cambridge appointed assessor in Athens. The assessor observes face-to-face teaching practice and has access to online materials and trainee assignments.
